The Scheine of a Local Hunk for this Colony with Branches at the most important places in China, has been in contemplation for a very long period The local and foreign trade in Hongkong and at the open ports in China and Japan has increased so rapidly within the last few years that additional Hanking ficilities are felt to be required. The Banks now in China being only branches of Corporations whose head quarters are in England or India, and which were formed chiefly with the view of carrying on exchange operations between those countries and China, are scarcely in a position to deal autiefactorily with the local trade which has become so much more extensive and varied than in former years. This deficiency the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Company will supply, and will in fact assume the same position with relation to this Colony as the Presidency Banks in India, or the Banks of Australia in their respective localities, The Establishment of a Mint in Hongkong. providing an adequate supply of proper currency, will render a local Banking medium essential to carry out its operations, and the almost certain disappearance of the existing Compradoric system (so far as money is concarned) will also ensure Banks becoming in course of time the exclusive medium for the transaction of the monetary operations connected with trade. For the anticipated success of this enterprise there are therefore ample grounds; and the great prosperity which has attended the working of other local associations in China clearly shews that the largest profits are obtained by those Public Companies which possess an interested support naturally forms a chief element of remuportance of its business at the latter place must seribe to the Deed of Settlement, when called on be very great, it is intended to establish a local to do so. Government with reference to obtaining a site for the proposed Docks in the Colony, and the project a mercenary resigned—the devotion of the Docskins, Cassineres, Tweeds, Costinge, Troubus been favourably entertained, steps being in British minister to the Mandarin cause conprogress to tacilitate this diljeut, the necessary tinued as warm as ever the London Times overcame the shock of its correspondent's actor of the proposed site having been conducted horrible murder, and advocated the Imperial cause with its wonted disregard to veracity and its usual unscrupulosness

It must buve been clear therefore to the Mandarins that Gordon's indignation was mere sham, and it was necessary for them, not only to support the Putai, but to exhibit to the world that Gordon was a simple barbarian mercenary who could be bought at a price. To condemn the Potai was to pay a tribute to pocidental notions of honor, and that was not to be thought of. The political bearing of the subject is highly important towards all Western nations general but especially towards the British. was not the simple man Gordon who had to be dealt with, it was Great Britain politically and diplometically : because Gordon belonged to the British army and was lent as a Goneral, and the perfidy had been taken up nationally both by the British Minister and the British Commander in Chief. And thon as to stamp the reconciliation with the seal of Great Britain, the conduct of Gordon in effeeting it, was warmly approved of both by the British General and the Minister. Therefore, the reader will observe that our status us a nation is greatly damaged by the result of the affair. To be sure, the Queen's Ministers utterly condemned the perhidy, distinctly ordering Gordon to leave the Imperial service, but that circumstance is not known to the Mandarins, and even if it were, they must conclude that Gordon is perfectly delighted with them, for after these positive orders were received. and after his disciplined force was disbanded. he rejoined the service and remains in it to

The same feelings which actuated the Mandarins in this matter, actuated the Japanese authorities in compalling the Dutch to repudiate the bible and to tread on the cross indignities which were insisted on at Dosina until trade was opened under the new treaties. The Daimies, with a ficulish delight, determined not only to make Christians renounce their religion, but to defile it. What opinion the Japanese government and people must have emertained of the Dutch is consequence, we ask the reader to reflect upon-and should be arrive at conclusions and favorable to the Dutch, perhaps he will turn a half per annum—under that number a mo dellars. We would advise our readers to take curoful note and to respect what may appeur in its columns on the subject of the rebellion, which, if we are not misinformed and mistalson, is about to break out in a fresh place, and in much more dangerous proportions than it has ever yet assumed-; we mean say that due provision will be made by its Cholcest New Teas-comprising leaders against that destroying element, British neutrality, The other Shanghai papers persistently and designedly attempt to mislead the public or this subject. We can see that our contempo rary of the Friend has some trump cards in ? The " Chanticleer" leaves for hand, and that he is pluying a close and a sure game. That is to say, he has information which lie is indisposed to make use of at present We shall soon see. The Friend asserts positively that the Chung Wang is slive, free, and in the field, and our contemporary even doubts the death of the Tien Wang. We look upon it as a certainty, that the Chang Wang was not captured at Nanking in the manner stated either in the columns of the North China Herald, or in the Imperial despatches which that Journal reproduced—but we know of reliable advices from Nanking which state that the Tien Wang committed suicido by cating gold leaf, two or three days provious to his Yaman being taken, and that his that bonceforward Book Packets may be body was immediately buried. After his Yamun was occupied a search was made for the mundarins body, when it was found, exhumed and decapitated. The Kan Wang was taken prisoner and beheaded. He was the Tien Wang's consin and was the man who was practising here as a Christian convert. He was also the man whom Issachar Roberts abused so much because of a sound thrushing, which he administered to the old mendicant's boy. Another Wang was also made prisoner and belieaded, but he was a man of no note. The three heads were exposed as those of the Tien. Wang, of the Chang Wang, and of the Kan Wang. The first and the last were the veritable caputs, but the head called the Chang Wang's was that of the obscure Wang who was captured as above stated. The total number of the garrison found inside the city when the Mandarius took it was only 15,000 It would appear therefore that all han escaped except the immediate personal friends of the Tien Wang, together with such of his troops as were devoted to him. We make no doubt
